55 Killed In TWA Crash Near Cairo

CAIRO, Aug. 31.—(AP)—A Rome-bound Trans World Airlines Constellation plane carrying 55 persons, 23 of them Americans, crashed and burned today north of Cairo, killing all aboard.

The airline announced there were no survivors among the 48 passengers and seven crewmen. Reports from the scene said the plane was so badly burned that only a small section of it remained intact.

The bodies of the victims, many of them notables and representing a dozen countries, were so badly charred that identification at once was impossible.

Officials of the district governor's office in Bahariya province placed the scene of the crash near Elay Baroud, about 75 miles northwest of Cairo. Eyewitnesses said they saw the big four-engine "Star of Maryland" plummet to earth in flames.

Earlier the district governor's office had held out hope that six of those aboard had survived, but this was dashed by messages direct from the scene, to which

Houston Reports Polio Epidemic

HOUSTON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—City Health Officer Dr. K. Laurents today said polio has reached an epidemic stage in Houston and Harris county.

"We have been going through a mild epidemic the past month but it is now going into a full epidemic," he said while reporting four more new cases.

He warned that more cases normally are reported in September than any other month of the year. Houston has had 146 cases and 13 deaths this year, compared to 62 cases and one death the same period last year. Harris county has had 10 cases and one death, compared to last year's 66 cases and four deaths.

Sixty-six out-of-county residents, with four deaths, also have been brought here for treatment this year. Last year there had been 30 non-resident cases and two deaths.

Houston hospitals have received 276 cases, with 18 deaths, this year, compared to 148 cases and seven deaths the same period in 1949.

Malik's Final Bitter Tirade Against U. S. Due At Security Council Today

BY STANLEY JOHNSON
LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Jakob A. Malik's month as president of the United Nations Security Council ends today.

For the 31 days of August the Russian delegate has used the presidency to hamstringing council consideration of the Korean war and to launching propaganda blasts against the United States and other Western Democracies.

Observers expect him to fire his biggest gun at today's session but don't know what he'll use for ammunition. They are sure, however, that Malik will not turn over the chair to British suave Sir Gladwyn Jebb, September president, without one final propaganda barrage.

Malik has indicated he will continue to attend council meetings after his presidency ends. But in-

Broader Draft Due

ALLOWANCE BILL PASSED BY HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the house armed services committee said today the draft soon will be extended to married men with dependents.

Without taking fathers, Vinson told reporters, draft boards will not be able to meet future calls to increase the size of the armed forces.

Vinson made the statement just after the house passed a bill providing for allotments of from $85 to $165 a month for GI families.

"This means," he said, "that selective service now can broaden its calls to include men with children who are within draft age."

"That is the purpose of the allotment act, to make financial provisions for the families of such men."

Vinson said he planned to question selective service and military heads soon about the present standards for draftees.

"The 10 (intelligence) requirements now are too high," he said. "It seems that many more men can be inducted if the mental requirements are lowered. That would mean that fewer fathers may have to be called, but many of them

Closing Date For Jersey Exhibition Set On Sept. 11

Officials of the Texas Jersey Cattle Club Wednesday agreed to extend the closing date for their exhibition so it would conform with the closing date of the Corcoran Livestock and Agricultural Show. The losing date was advanced to Sept. 11. The Jersey group will exhibit at Corsicana Sept. 26-30.

The change in date was made so Jersey breeders in this area may enter cattle in the show and sale or both.

D. T. Simons, Fort Worth, secretary of the Jersey club said 289 entries had been received for the show which was to have been held at Sulphur Springs. The shift to Corsicana was made when an anthrax quarantine went into effect in East Texas.

Simons said he expects between 250 and 275 head to show at Corsicana. He added this might be increased if local breeders decide to enter.

The Jersey Club's program is as follows:

Sept. 26, 8:30 a. m., junior judging, including 4-H and Future Farmers of America entries.

Sept. 27, 10 a. m., junior show.

Sept. 28, 9 a. m., judging cows and heifers in milk and bulls.

Sept. 29, 9 a. m., judging cows in milk and groups.

The club's queen, Katharine Morrison of Gladewater, will be presented before the rodeo crowd the night of Sept. 27.

The Jersey show will be held in connection with the 14th annual Corcoran Livestock and Agricultural Show and Rodeo, Sept. 26-30.

All exhibitors must have their stock on the Fair Grounds by 6 p. m., Sept. 25.

Air Parcel Post Rates To Jump

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Rates on air parcel post will go up Nov. 1, Postmaster General Donaldson announced today.

On packages up to one pound, there will be no change if the trip is more than 150 miles. There will be a nickel increase for packages between half a pound and one pound if the trip is less than 150 miles.

The real increase will come on heavier packages.

Donaldson said the new rates will bring in enough revenue to pay the costs of air parcel post. He said present revenue isn't enough.

435 Deaths Due During Holiday With 29 In Texas

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The National Safety Council said today there may be a record toll of 435 highway traffic deaths over the 78-hour period from 6 p. m. Friday until midnight Monday. It was made with the expectation that 50,000,000 cars will jam the nation's streets and highways over the long weekend. And, the council said, the usual critical minority of drivers will show unusual symptoms of great hurry, gross inattention or helplessness.

Traffic fatalities last Labor Day weekend totaled 410, eclipsing the expected toll is the highest for Labor Day holiday period in 1937. In all types of accidents last Labor Day, 550 persons were killed, a record for the holiday. Included were 53 drinkings and 87 deaths from miscellaneous causes. The previous high was 428 in 1937.

AUSTIN, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Twenty-nine persons are expected to die in Texas traffic accidents this weekend.

Texas Department of Public Safety Director Homer Garrison said the expected toll is the highest for any Labor Day weekend in Texas history. The prediction was issued by N. K. Woerner, chief of the department's statistical division. Garrison attributed the probable rise in traffic deaths to the increasing amount of traffic.

Compromise Offer Due On Tax Bill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—A compromise aimed at blasting the deadline on a $4,000,000,000 corporation excess profits tax was announced in the Senate today. It could clear the way for speedy action on the $4,500,000,000 general tax-boosting bill.

Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the Senate finance committee said he will present a compromise. He did not give details, but the proposal may call for:

Postponement of action on the super levy on big profits until early next year, but—

With assurances from the finance committee, possibly joined by members of the House Ways and Means committee, that when a profits tax is enacted next year it will be made retroactive in its application to Oct. 1, 1950, or possibly July 1, 1950.

Senators O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) and Connally (D-Tex.), authors of the 85 per cent excess profits amendment, cold-shouldered the compromise idea and pressed for passage of their amendment to the present general tax bill. They would make the profits levy effective as of last July 1.

However, some lawmakers working on the compromise said privately they expect it to defeat the Connally-O'Mahoney amendment, if a vote is forced.

George indicated he will call for a showdown today. Democratic leaders said they may hold the Senate in a night session to speed action.

Conferees Reach No Agreement On Controls Powers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—A Senate-house conference committee hoped to work out final details of a broad anti-inflation bill today and speed it to President Truman's desk, but the nation Friday night.

The legislation would arm the President with even more powers than he asked to gear the nation's economy to the Korean fighting and an expanded military program.

Truman is expected to outline in his "fireside chat" just what the people can expect in the way of controls measures.

He sent word to Congress Wednesday, even while the conference committee was trying to hammer out an agreement on the economic controls measure, that he would need $80,000,000 to begin with for administration of the powers the legislation would give him.

It had been expected that the conferees would agree on a compromise by noon. However, at

PFC Takes Over Life Of Colonel

WITH U. S. FORCES IN Korea, Aug. 31.—(AP)—A 19-year-old private in the air force is living the life of a colonel.

For the past month Pfc. Stanley Tompkins of Kirskevitz, Mo., has had a "colonel's job" without the eagle. He volunteered to stay behind to handle communications when a forward airfield was abandoned. That made him commander of what was left of the base.

Tompkins, in the colonel's bed, used the colonel's electric razor, helped himself to some of the provisions the colonel left behind. And when he answered the phone he complied with army procedure.

"Pfc. Tompkins speaking—base commander."

President Asks Funds For Dispersal Of Key Agencies From Capital Area

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Key agencies are to be scattered well outside Washington so a single atomic bomb won't keno the nation's government.

President Truman started a dispersal program by asking congress for $130,000,000 to build four office centers "within commuting distance of Washington," probably about 35 miles away.

Most important government departments and bureaus now are clustered in an area of a couple square miles along the Potomac river's banks.

Part of the money the President asked would go for highways and communications facilities.

This is only the first portion of what Truman called a "long-range plan to insure the continuity of essential functions of government in event of emergency."

About 40,000 federal workers would be accommodated at the four proposed sites.

Eventually it is planned to have perhaps a dozen or more such federal agency centers ringing the Capital from a safe distance.

The White House statement did not mention what agencies would move. But it seemed probable they would be the most essential ones.

Plans were announced in late July to set up an emergency nerve center for the military agencies—supplemental communications center at Camp Ritchie, Md., about 65 miles northwest of here.

As for the capital's defense in event of a possible air attack, Chairman Tydings (D-Md.) of the senate armed services committee said recently that, in addition to the military air fields here, one new air base would be built here and Baltimore, will be used to defend Washington.

11 Hurt When Santa Fe Train Jumps Its Track

LAMPASAS, Tex., Aug. 31.—(AP)—A Santa Fe passenger train left the rails in the pre-dawn darkness early today. At least 11 persons were injured, none seriously.

"We are awfully lucky no one was killed or critically hurt," a spokesman for the railroad said.

The diesel-powered train, making its regular run from Los Angeles to Houston, derailed in rolling country about 12 miles west of this central Texas town about 3 a. m. (CST) (4 a. m. EST).

Eleven injured were hospitalized. Several received only first aid treatment.

A Santa Fe spokesman said the train, No. 76, due in Houston at 7:14 a. m. (CST), was "making a reasonable rate of speed" at the time of derailment.

He said three sleepers left the rails but did not overturn, and that the chair car, diner, lounge car and "Jim Crow" car (which carries negro passengers) left the rails and overturned.

The engine, mail car and baggage car did not leave the rails and proceeded to Temple.

"There were about 40 passengers on the train," the Santa Fe official said. "So far as I can learn, none suffered more than cuts and bruises."

Several passengers who received first aid at a Lampasas hospital were sent by bus to Temple to be transferred to another train.

Deputy Sheriff Henry Cunningham said the accident occurred in a sort of ravine where the roadbed had been built at least 15 feet above the ground.

4 Injured When Freight Wrecked In Teague Yards

TEAGUE, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Four men were injured in a stackup of freight cars when a freight train on the edge of this Central Texas town at 4:40 a. m. today.

F. L. Perry of the Teague Chronicle said 47 cars of the 64-car train were practically destroyed in the derailment.

"Cars were stacked up as high as 30 feet and maize and oil were scattered along the right of way for three blocks," he said.

Three crewmen were reported only slightly hurt, but a transient was taken to City Hospital with a badly crushed leg and other injuries.

The Rock Island listed the injured as R. E. Batta, engineer; W. S. Traywick, fireman, and Lonnie A. McCool, conductor, all of Port Worth.

Nichols said other transients had boarded the train above Teague, but no one has been found of them several hours after the wreck.

Perry said the wreck occurred on a slight curve where there were several tracks and switches. He said the train, which was going south, was being pulled by a new three-unit diesel.

One unit, he said, was thrown

Governor Names His Choices For Demo Positions

AUSTIN, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The Governor has named his choices for the jobs of State Democratic Executive Committee Chairman, State Democratic Convention Keynote, and Convention Temporary Chairman.

Gov. Allan Shivers thought his hometown friend, J. B. Wheat of Woodville, would "make a pretty good" executive committee chairman.

He suggested Leroy Jeffers, Houston attorney, could deliver a fine keynote speech at the Sept. 12 State Convention at Mineral Wells.

He said Ben Ramsey of San Augustine and Wardlaw Lane of Center had been mentioned to handle the tough duties of temporary chairman of the convention. "If the convention selected either one, it would suit me," Shivers said.

The State Convention is dubbed the "Governor's Convention," indicative of the fact that his wishes in such matters as election of the executive committee chairman usually are followed.

UN Forces Stall Invaders On North, East Fronts

TOKYO, Friday, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The Korean Reds threw a major two-division assault against the U. S. 25th Division in extreme South Korea today.

There were fragmentary reports that the Reds also were heavily attacking the U. S. Second Division farther north along the Nakdong river.

AP Correspondents Stan Swinton reported from the southern front just west of Masan that the North Korean invaders struck before dawn at 15 points after a heavy preparatory barrage.

Fighting was raging today all along that front in what might be the start of a new general Red offensive, Swinton reported.

The new Communist onslaught, which had been long expected but had been delayed, followed a string of Red efforts to crack the United Nations defense lines on the northern and eastern fronts.

The new outbreak came as American and South Korean forces on the east coast anchor of the defenses hurled the Reds back north of the port of Pohang.

The enemy had tried for two days to crack the defenses along the east coast road but General MacArthur's post-midnight summary said they had been driven back within 500 yards of their starting point, about four miles north of Pohang.

The Reds were still firing artillery and mortars in the area of ravaged Kigye, nine miles northwest of Pohang.

In the face of light fire, the Americans reopened the road north from the threatened port on the sea of Japan.

The moved from three to four miles north of the city beyond the spot where an enemy roadblock on Thursday had made it impassable.

Army photographer Ray Turnbull of Miami Beach, Fla., reported the road reopened. He accompanied American tanks and infantrymen north of the port city and returned to Taegu, a major allied position west of Pohang in the day.

The Reds had missed their target deadline—Wednesday midnight—for driving the United Nations forces out of Korea. It was set by Red Premier Kim Il Sung.

Deep on the south coast at the other end of the 120-mile long peninsula, South Korean Marines reported the capture of large amounts of enemy material and

House Approves Quick Spending Of Defense Cash

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The House voted today to let the government go ahead immediately with defense programs covered by a $16,700,000,000 appropriation bill still pending in Congress. One program is a $4,000,000,000 expansion of foreign military aid.

Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.) of the appropriations committee told the House the money in the bill is needed now. The House then adopted by voice vote a resolution permitting the defense agencies to start spending in anticipation of eventually getting the cash.

The resolution must get the approval also of the Senate.

The bill itself was passed by the House last Saturday and is now before the Senate appropriations committee. The Senate group is holding hearings and final congressional action on the bill may not come for another 10 days or more.

The hearings are centered on the $4,000,000,000 of foreign military aid. It appears ticketed for early committee approval.

New Violations Of China Borders Charged By Reds

LONDON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The Chinese Communists accused the U. S. Air Force again today of violating China's borders.

A broadcast by the New China News agency, the Peking government's official organ, charged that American fighter planes on Tuesday killed five persons and wounded five others on Chinese territory, near the China-Korea border.

The broadcast said Red China's foreign minister Chou En-Lai had telegraphed his complaint to Jakob Malik, Russia's United Nations delegate, and this month's president of the security council.

Chou, the agency said, demanded that the council "take effective measures immediately in checking American aggressive forces in Korea from extending their aggression and to effect the immediate withdrawal of U. S. forces invading Korea."

The Chinese Communists on Sunday registered their first complaint in Korea today.

U. S. planes had bombed Manchuria. The U. S. vigorously denied that charge.

In Tokyo a U. S. Air Force spokesman today said no American planes have gone north of Korea's boundaries.

"We do not plan to comment on each such report," the spokesman added.

Bombers Blast Strategic Targets As Fighters Mow Down Ground Troops

TOKYO, Aug. 31.—(AP)—More than 90 B-29s spewed over 800 tons of bombs on strategic targets in Korea today.

Of the total load, 600 tons were dropped on industrial installations at Chinnampo, port of Pyongyang, North Korean capital. Both cities are targets of B-29 bombers from carriers Wednesday.

The air force announced the B-29s took precautions not to hit the city proper.

Earlier the air force reported 200 North Koreans in two days in the raging battle for Pohang on the east coast.

Air, Artillery Support Asked In Hill Battle

By DON HUTH
U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The U. S. First Cavalry division called for air and artillery support today to help take Hill 518, a key position about four miles northeast of Waeju, a city in the northwest corner of the Korean war front. An American officer said the hill probably is occupied by the North Korean forces. They are supported, however, by a tight net of machinegun nests and mortars which caused light casualties among the Americans Wednesday.

Anti-personnel mines and booby traps on the hill slowed the American attack. The mines consisted mainly of potato-masher type grenades.

In some foxholes, American soldiers seeking shelter from the heavy machinegun fire found grenades with levers partially removed. The weight of the grenade was holding the pin in safety. Any slight movement caused the "potato masher" to explode.

A division officer said there were at least two reinforced Reg companies protecting the men on the hill with machineguns and mortars. The supporting troops also were supplying their hill defenders up the reverse side of the slope from the one the Americans were scaling.

Wednesday night the Americans got within 200 yards of the summit but withdrew while their artillery shelled the position through the remainder of the night. Then, the division officer estimated, the assault.

Along the U. S. First Cavalry division sector on the western approaches to Taegu, the Reds distributed leaflets urging Americans to surrender.

The leaflets promised "safe passage."

U. S. planes have distributed thousands of United Nations leaflets urging Reds to surrender.

Shown here are a few of the 500 cases of Indian relics which adorn the walls of two rooms in the R. S. "Bob" Reading residence at 327 South Thirty-first street. Reading began his collection 18 years ago and now has 35,000 articles. The lower photo is a close-up of a few of the cases showing Indians heads and stone articles. Reading is shown in the upper picture.

Bob Reading's Indian Relics Create Problem

By DON MORRISSEY
Daily Sun Staff

Most people cover the walls of their homes with paint or paper. Not so with R. S. "Bob" Reading. His residence at 327 South Thirty-first street boasts wall coverings of arrowheads and Indian relics. In fact, more than 35,000 Indian articles adorn the walls of two large rooms, from the baseboards to the ceilings.

Enclosed in specially built cabinets, the Indian collection is the result of an 18-year hobby.

Always interested in Boy Scout work, and a registered Scout for 26 years, Reading became interested in his Indian collection through his contacts with Boy Scouts and Scout leaders.

His first step in the hobby was made in the Davis Dome area of Otero, N. M., county, which is located about 25 miles from El Paso.

His cabinets which hold the collections of 18 years are a big improvement over the first arrowhead collection he saw mounted on cotton batting back in 1932.

His collection, all tied to one-quarter inch beaverboard with copper wires, is numbered and catalogued. The collection and the catalogue provide a cross index. One can find any article by referring to the book listing, or by getting the numbers of the object, case and frame and referring to the catalogue.

When one enters the House of Reading the first things noticed are the cases which line the walls in the living and dining rooms. Each is filled with Indian relics. The designs and articles leave no doubt as to the completeness of the collection.

Reading, who is the district manager of the Lone Star Gas Co., said his walls are covered with 500 cases. No two background designs in the cases are alike and several of them tell the story about the articles displayed therein.

His collection contains relics from at least 30 states and he has located articles from Indian camp sites in 39 Texas counties. The majority of his collection has been found in Texas and New Mexico, he said, and 89 per cent of the 35,000 pieces have been found by himself or members of his family.

He said he believed his collection includes articles from several hundred different Indian tribes and he has definite proof of relics from 62 tribes which inhabited Texas before the coming of the white man.

Several of the articles in Reading's collection have been given him by other collectors and by persons who have seen or heard of his hobby.

The Indian relic fancier had a collection of about 15,000 pieces when he left the El Paso area for Corsicana. These he collected over a period of eight years.

"When we left out there," he said, "I thought my Indian relic collecting days were over. I never thought I'd be able to continue it with any success in this area."

However, he discovered that this section of Texas was rich in Indian treasures and in the 10 years he has been located in Corsicana he has added 21,000 articles to his collection.

When the Readings moved from El Paso he left his collection with the museum at Texas Western College, then known as the Texas School of Mines. The collection, Reading said, was used during the opening of the museum at the college.

After living in Corsicana for a while and discovering that his collection was going to continue to grow, he sent for the collection. At first the array included but about a dozen cases. These he easily displayed around the house. However, the collection started to grow and where to put them was a problem.

He said it was the late Mrs. Reading who struck upon the idea of lining the walls with the cases. Now there are 500 cases on the walls of two rooms and the collector has several more mounted and ready to be enclosed in the glass-front cases.

The wool felt background designs and the cases are made by the collector. He has designs laid out on several more boards and as the relics come in these will be filled.

"It's becoming quite a problem to find a place to put them," Reading said, "but I've got a lot of wall space left in the house."

The collection includes articles of stone, petrified wood, turquoise, pottery, copper and other metals. He has several copper arrowheads, considered a rarity in the accumulation.

Reading said about one per cent of the articles found are translucent and he has four cases lighted by eight electric bulbs. These are specially mounted so there are openings in back of each piece. When the lights are turned on nearly every fiber and formation of the article can be plainly seen.

The job of mounting is a major operation. First the design is placed on the board. Then the articles to be placed thereon are numbered and catalogued.

As each piece is placed, small holes are punched in the board and the article secured with copper wire. The back of the board with all its wires looks like the inside of a radio or the inwards of a pin ball machine.

When all the articles are tied down, the board is placed, face down, the board is placed, face back put on.

Now except for numbering the case and frame, the collection is ready to be placed on a wall with the others.

Looking over the case-filled walls of his home, Reading said "I guess I have disturbed the happy hunting grounds of a lot of chiefs and braves, but so far none of them have come back to haunt me."

The collector said he takes every opportunity to increase his collection. Business and vacation trips generally result in a search-party.

When he starts out he arms himself with maps of the country. He is to visit and when he comes upon a stream or creek, or a water hole, he stops and makes inspections all around the water.

Often he gets permission from land owners to follow creeks through their fields.

"Many times the farmers tell me

Navarro county alone. His next biggest find was in Limestone county where he found 43.

He has deducted a few customs of old Indian tribes from his collections.

"When we discovered a camp site where there were many arrowheads and but few pieces of pottery we determined they belonged to a nomad or wandering tribe which didn't intend to stay long in any one area.

"On the other hand, we found many camp sites where there were few arrowheads and weapons of war and considerable amounts of pottery.

"From this we deducted the site was inhabited by a tribe which had 'sed down."

His collection also includes scale water colorings of some of the pots found in the Indian pit houses.

Asked if he ever thought his collection would grow to such proportions, he said:

"Gosh no, but after I got started I just couldn't stop. I'm still looking and I'm still finding. I'll probably go on even after I've run out of wall space."

Mack Stanley, IOOF Home Product, Is Now Recognized As One Of Most Promising Young Commercial Artists

TOP FLIGHT ARTIST—Mack Stanley (above), was born in Fort Worth and grew up mostly in the Odd Fellows Home at Corsicana. He got his early art training by traveling from Corsicana to Dallas on a budget for $1.50 to make each journey. A few years ago he went to New York with $5 in his pocket and wearing cowboy boots. Now he is a successful artist with a New York advertising agency and will have two exhibitions of his work at New York art galleries this fall. (AP Photo).

By MARK BARRON

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(P)—He's riding high today as one of New York's top flight artists, but it was only a few years ago that young Mack Stanley had to travel 56 miles twice a week to study his art technique in Dallas. And he had a budget of $1.50 on which to make each journey.

Stanley is one of the prize protégés of the Institute of Commercial Art, a group of 12 noted artists in New York and Westport, Conn., who are assisting promising artists to improve their talents and make a profit at the same time.

These artists are: Jon Whitcomb, Norman Rockwell, Albert Dorne, Austin Briggs, Al Parker, Stevan Dohanes, Ben Stahl, Fred Ludekens, Robert Everett, Harold Von Schmidt, John Atherton and Peter Helek. All are successful artists whose income from commercial field averages $75,000 a year and more in addition to what they receive for their works which appear in galleries and other exhibitions.

Fortune of $5 Stanley heard about these artists, and a couple of years ago he appeared in New York with a portfolio of his paintings, wearing cowboy boots and with his total fortune of $5 in his pockets. Dorne, president of the institute, got young Stanley a job to pay his board and room rent and started him painting.

Today Stanley is not only a successful artist, but Campbell Ewald Co., one of New York's major advertising agencies, but he also has completed painting for two art exhibitions which are scheduled for him in New York galleries this fall.

"But, New York was awfully rough when I first arrived here," Stanley said.

"The first thing that happened was that I lost my Stetson hat one of those ten-gallon things, on a bus. It cost me $7.50 in Texas, but when I went to buy a new one in New York, the very same hat cost me $15.

"Then I got lost in Grand Central station. That place is almost as big as Texas.

"The first place I lived in New York was a little room on the Bowery, and gosh, it was cold down there. I could only pay $3 a week rent because I was sending some money home."

Keeps Sense of Humor But nothing seems to bother Stanley, who keeps a bubbling sense of humor despite the hard trail he has traveled. He was born in Fort Worth, but lived in Tyler and Houston. He began to feel the urge for painting at an early age.

When he was 12 he ran away from the home to go to Dallas to study at the Dallas Art Institute. After a few days they discovered him and brought him back to the home at Corsicana.

"I didn't even get a spanking," Stanley says gratefully.

And the authorities at the Odd Fellows Home were understanding people for they made arrangements for him to travel to Dallas twice a week after that to study art. And he had to do it on $1.50 for each trip which was all that the home's budget could spare.

And Stanley was also busy at the home with his daily school studies and his athletics. He won two track medals at the home, and he was on the team that won the mile relay medals at the state meet.

As for his art studies in the Dallas school, Stanley said he first began to think that he might have something worthwhile when one of the models looked at his work one day and commented that "it was the only artist he had seen there who could draw skin and bones at the same time."

The model's comment was more of an uplift to him than an art critic's praise, and it caused him to begin a serious and thorough study of perspective.

"The cave man didn't need art because he had perspective," Stanley explained. "He just looked out of the door of his cave. Perspective was invented as a window for the cave man."

First Job Brought $15 Stanley says that his first commercial art was in Texas when one client gave him $15 for drawing two heads. And then when this was followed by a regular job on the Houston Chronicle, he thought he was a successful artist, indeed.

Now he is looking to more glided roads ahead with his Campbell Ewald Art assignment, with some art work he is doing for Dumont television and with his coming art exhibition in the galleries.

New Comet Old, Astronomer Says

BERKELEY, Calif., Aug. 31.—(P)—A comet spotted near the constellation Taurus by Vatican observers is an old one, a University of California astronomer says.

Dr. Leland B. Cunningham identified it as "periodic D'Arrest" which has been in the Taurus vicinity a long time.

A story from the Vatican City indicated it was a newcomer to the Celestial Dome. But Dr. Cunningham says the Jesuit Fathers who saw it on film now concur with his opinion.

The comet is invisible to the naked eye but can be photographed.

SEDATIVE SLEEP
The soothing night comes as a nurse
Devoted watch to keep;
And when she can, gives weary man
The sedative of sleep.
It sets at rest the fretful mind
And eases every pain.
It steals away the cares of day
'Till he must rise again.
It blots out every blunder made
And trivial failures met,
And while he lies with lidded eyes
It sets him free from debt.
Oh, wondrous sedative called sleep
That all may freely share,
And 'till we wake ends every ache
The body has to bear!

BROADER TRAINING

Some communities, faced with a shortage of elementary school teachers, find that there are many qualified candidates for positions in secondary schools. The opposite condition exists in other areas. Some colleges are preparing to cope with this situation.

Fenn College in Cleveland plans to train its students of education for what is called dual certification. Under this system the student is prepared to teach in elementary, junior high or high school grades, thus qualifying for a job at any grade level.

Advantages of this plan are immediately apparent. Qualifications of a substantial number of teachers in this dual certification should reduce the shortages of teachers at particular grade levels. Those with these dual certificates who get the chance to teach in both upper and lower grades would be better able to establish their preference and find their proper niche in the educational system. A chief disadvantage is that the student cannot be as highly trained for a special group of grades as the one who chooses a grade level and spends the final two years of schooling in special preparation for teaching at that level. As in other fields of activity, both the general teachers and the specialists are needed. The problem is to achieve a balance in supply which matches the balance in need.

STARTING THEM YOUNG

In some European countries the plastic minds of children have been targets for subversive propaganda and later have become strong assets to Nazism or Communism.

In order to forestall such happenings here, many adults responsible for children are making a point of instilling patriotism and right thinking into their youthful charges. One project along such lines was carried out recently in the Harlem district of New York, where five thousand children between the ages of 6 and 14 marched in a parade called "Youth Loyalty Day Walk." Ceremonies were held in one of the parks, where the children sang patriotic songs, listened to speeches, pledged allegiance to the flag, consumed refreshments.

Patriotism, freedom and loyalty, as abstractions, are above the head of children. But by hammering home single concrete facts relating to these concepts, they may be led toward attitudes which tend to become habitual and will in time make loyal citizens of them. Children need positive schooling in loyalty, because the subversives pretend that their teachings represent loyalty. It is not always easy to tell which is the true loyalty. It can be seen that even adults sometimes are fooled.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

Israel, starting from scratch, has the opportunity to face each problem with a fresh scrutiny. One to be considered by its judicial and legislative agencies is that of capital punishment. There have been no legal executions in the new country since its founding in 1948, though the law inherited from the British mandate imposed the death penalty for murder or treason. Several criminals sentenced under this law are now in prison, awaiting the decision of Israel's parliament as to whether capital punishment should be written into the state body of law. In many countries with generations of experience this question is still unsettled, as far as its merits are concerned. Proponents of a system which would re-educate criminals, attempting to eradicate their murderous tendencies, oppose capital punishment. Those who consider themselves more realistic cite the theories that many criminals are ineducable and that the death penalty is the only deterrent to murder. The fact that murder is more often a crime of passion, committed without planning or consideration of its consequences, is an argument used by both sides. Israel's law-makers have their work cut out for them.

SELLING IN THE WORLD

There is a sign of the times in the International Trade Fair held in Chicago in August. It was the first such world fair ever to be held in the United States. Canada has had one in each of the last three years, and in Europe they are old and familiar institutions, the most famous ones now being those of Brussels and Paris on the Continent, and London and Birmingham in England.

Americas have often traded at the European fairs. The Chicago fair brought exhibitors from 46 foreign nations to trade here. They came to sell, rather than to buy, and their coming marks a new step in American realization that trade needs two-way streets. Those who succeed in selling to American customers will garner good American dollars. And what will they do with them? They will use them to buy American goods, or to buy from traders in other nations who will in turn buy something in America. Thus does trade go on.

BOLSHEVİK'S BONER

The editors of Bolshevik, one of the important Russian magazines, have pulled a boner. It is the government pretense, worn pretty thin now but still continued, that all innovation in Russian affairs come from the ground-roots agitation of the rank and file. The government, according to this pretty and totally false theory, is merely the mouthpiece of the people.

Bolshevik now unwittingly reveals that in at least one important case this elaborate pretense was a simple lie. Moscow has long been working on the merger of small farms into larger collectively owned and operated units, and pretending that this development is based on the demands of the peasants themselves. Now Bolshevik has disclosed that the unification of farms was an idea from Moscow, passed along and enforced by Communist party workers.

It is no bold conjecture that, if it has not happened already, there may be a new editor of Bolshevik, and that the former head may undergo a renewal of his education. In the "people's paradise" it is an unforgivable offense to let the Kremlin call out of the bag.

VOLCANOES HAVE USES

Alaska, whose natural wonders are only beginning to be appreciated, has another. This is the volcano Mt. Pavlov, long thought dormant, which has now erupted and sent flames and ash 25,000 feet into the air. The last notable eruption in North America was that of the Mexican volcano Paricutin a few years ago. This proved in the end of considerable economic benefit to the region, as unnumbered tourists went there to see the flaming marvel. Perhaps Pavlov may do like service to Alaska, and might even arouse in the Senate the necessary wakened incentive to vote on the statehood bills for Alaska and Hawaii.

HONEYMOONING IN COLORADO—Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. Golden, who were married at the Menger Hotel in San Antonio on August 19th, are honeymooning in Aspen, Colo., where they are attending the lectures and concerts that are being sponsored by the Aspen Institute for Humanistic Studies. Upon their return to Corsicana, they will make their home at 1818 Maplewood. Before her marriage, the bride was the former Miss Claire Ellen Nevelow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Nevelow of San Antonio. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. L. H. Golden of Corsicana. Attendants in the wedding were Miss Marjorie Goodman of Mansfield, Ohio, Mrs. Burney Bobbitt and Miss Noreen Golden of Corsicana, and Misses Sandra Sugarmann, Beverly Mell and Phyllis Nevelow. The bridegroom's father served as best man, and groomsmen were Howard Nevelow, Allan Antwell of Hobbs, N. M., Allan Golden of Corsicana, Joe Davis Antwell of Ft. Worth and Buddy Gilbert of Pittsburgh. The bridegroom was fashioned of imported Chantilly lace and her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a wreath of lace leaves embroidered with seed pearls. She carried an arrangement of Stephanotis, centered with an orchid, and showered with miniature trailing ivy. Assisting at the reception in the patio were Miss Shirley Evans of Corsicana and Mrs. Allan Antwell of Hobbs, N. M.

The killing of 500 Reds in two weeks.

The Pohang action high-lighted the Thursday activities on the war front.

Allied planes continued to hammer targets with a fury that gradually was eliminating Communist rolling stock, industrial plants, ammunition dumps and material stockpiles.

The North Koreans were reported losing 1,000 men a day in the drive on Pohang mounted by 28,000 men.

The Air Force estimated it killed 1,200 North Koreans in strafing and bombing attacks on the front lines at Pohang. Seven hundred Red dead were counted in one sector alone.

Warships and tank guns added heavily to the enemy losses during Thursday, when the North Korean drive gained only about four blocks on the outskirts of the No. 2 southern Korea port.

Along other fronts of the box-shaped defense perimeter there were these developments:

At Chongju, 25 miles southwest of Taegu, the U. S. 2nd Infantry Division repulsed enemy attempts to cross the Nakdong river.

Outside of Waryang, 12 miles northwest of Taegu, U. S. 1st Cavalry Division troops in small numbers missed capturing a 1,700-foot hill by 200 feet. They were repulsed by a small force of entrenched Reds.

All was quiet Thursday on the extreme southern front. A patrol of the American 28th Infantry Division moved 5,000 yards, better than two miles, behind Communist lines north of Haman without drawing a shot. Haman is 10 miles northwest of Mian, south coast port 27 orline miles west of Fusan, main allied seaport on the southeastern Korean coast.

Even dispirited "Battle Mountain" in the area, which has changed hands eight times in two weeks, was quiet.

North of Taegu 20,000 North Koreans were stalled in a drive on the central front.

South Korean troops held firm before concerted enemy thrusts.

On the other hand the building of fortified positions manpower increased slowly. A small Australian infantry contingent was flown into Japan on its way to Korea Thursday. British troops, who arrived in England, moved toward the front lines.

Units from Thailand and the Philippines were expected in Korea shortly and others from France and Belgium were promised soon.

General MacArthur's headquarters officers were frankly puzzled by the sudden lull in the fighting around bloody Pohang and other points.

A companion drive from the northwest was bogged at Kigye, nine miles away from Pohang. In hours of bitter fighting the Communists had not gained at Kigye.

The South Korean Capitol Division weathered a smashing artillery attack at Kigye, they still held the hills outside of Kigye which control the roads to Taegu, prize city to the west along the 120-mile-long battlefield.

The Far East Air Forces said 700 dead North Koreans were found heaped west of Kigye by advancing troops. Five hundred more were killed by planes Wednesday.

The battle was so close and so bitter that an advance of a few yards, gained behind constant strafing planes, was a margin in favor of the advancing infantrymen.

The magnificent stand of the South Koreans was particularly galling to the Reds. Their commander in chief, Premier Kim Il Sung, told them two weeks ago to wipe out the allies by the end of August.

AP Correspondent Tom Lambert reported that the concentration of North Koreans had been sighted in the Kigye area. This may be the Red 15th Division which was skulking around the battle area Tuesday.

Stout South Korean defenses blocked a Red advance on Taegu west of the Pohang battle. Five hundred Communist dead were counted there in a few hours of fighting. Taegu is 33 miles to the southwest of Pohang.

The South Korean 8th Division brooded the Reds there. West of them the South Korean 6th Division cleaned up infiltrators sneaking

Teague May Head Veterans Probe

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—(AP)—The chairmanship of a special house committee to investigate the Veterans Administration education program may go to Rep. Olin Teague (D-Tex.).

The house has approved a resolution by the Texas directing Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) to name a special nine-member committee to conduct the inquiry.

The chairmanship of a special committee usually goes to the author of legislation creating the group.

Rep. Ewing (D-Tenn.), who sponsored a similar resolution, told the house a full report on the VA education operation is needed in view of agitation for an extension of benefits to servicemen fighting in Korea.

The Greek situation was first taken up by the council in London in 1948. It was dropped in 1947 and handed over to the general assembly, where it has been on the agenda every year since.

The Manchurian complaint, however, had been anticipated in connection with the Chinese charges of U. S. aggression in Formosa which the council voted Tuesday to put on the agenda.

The U. S. had been so sure Malik would win the charges of American bombings in Manchuria that it circulated a letter Tuesday denying any knowledge of such bombings and saying it would welcome a UN on-the-spot investigation.

Council consideration of the charges became almost inevitable Wednesday night when the Communist Foreign Office broadcast specific accusations of a raid by American planes on Manchuria which allegedly took place Tuesday.

The broadcast included an aerial photograph and said a cable to that effect had been sent to Malik.

It was unlikely, however, that the council majority would persist in the charge of the two new proposed items to be discussed at length before it acts further on the Korean problem.

Jobb takes over as president Friday. He had been president ahead of him, but probably not as fast as it did while the Russian boycotted the body's meetings.

Malik, who had been president since the outbreak of the Korean war, walked out Aug. 1. Malik has used every rule of parliamentary procedure to keep the council from proceeding with action against the North Korean invaders of South Korea.

The essential steps, however, including the call for military action, had been taken while Malik was absent.

Upon his return, the Russian denounced the council's acts as illegal. But he was unable to get them repealed or modified.

Malik, however, has been able to get up of council business with demand for the ouster of Nationalist China's delegate T. F. Tsiang, and the seating of a representative of the Chinese Communist regime.

This was defeated. Malik attempted to replace the charge of aggression against North Korea with one accusing the U. S. of aggression against South Korea.

Malik succeeded in preventing the attendance at council sessions of a representative of the Republic of (South) Korea by insisting that a representative of North Korea be invited to the conference.

Realizing that the council would defeat this proposition, he succeeded through parliamentary maneuvering in preventing it from coming up.

Malik's one significant success was the council's decision to hear Red Chinese claims of American aggression against the island of Formosa. It was a hollow victory, however, because the United States joined him in asking that the UN investigate the charges fully.

Malik also succeeded in holding up the council's general report on its activities to the General Assembly, which meets Sept. 19.

Delegates said that if Malik got through with his threat to veto the report unless all references to the council's Korean actions are deleted, individual delegations would bring the uncensored report to the floor of the assembly.

Time Rep. Spence (D-Ky.) emerged from the conference committee room and said progress was being made, but he saw no prospect of a final agreement before late in the day.

Spence, who heads the House conferees, said he still expects the legislation to be ready for action in the House and Senate tomorrow.

This would allow time for the House and then the Senate to stamp final approval on the compromise Friday unless opposition should develop in the Senate, Maybank said.

Under house rules debate on a conference committee report is limited to one hour but in the Senate it can run on and on.

Senator Wherry (R-Neb) told reporters he certainly will have something to say about the conference committee's decision to allow President Truman authority to invoke price and wage controls on a selective basis.

Blumrosen Will Oppose Teague

Mose Blumrosen, veteran Republican chairman for 26 years, Saturday was nominated as the district GOP convention of the Sixth Texas district for congress. He will oppose the Democratic incumbent, Col. Olin E. Teague of Bryan, who is a candidate for re-election in the November general election. Blumrosen was advised of his nomination during the week end.

Be Ballard of Hillsboro was named congressional chairman, and Walter Roberts of Chaffield was selected as congressional district secretary at the conference Saturday. It was learned here.

Early Corsicana Social Activities Listed In Item

The following item, which was placed in the column of the Corsicana Courier-Light of the early 1900's, will give an insight into local social activities that centered around "Fish Tank No. 2," which later became the Corsicana Country Club.

Under the heading, "Another Tank Party," the item read as follows: "Last evening, just after the usual supper, quite a crowd of young ladies and gentlemen went out to Fish Tank No. 2, to enjoy the pleasures afforded by the drive out there, a row on the lake, a most beautiful supper and the other pleasures which are to be had only by attending one of Corsicana's celebrated 'tank parties.'"

It is a glorious thing to be young, with a heart full of high hopes; it is sweeter still to have one's hopes kindled, life brightened, and the optimistic side of life presented by association with others whose hopes are perhaps more the concrete, own, and whose ambitions are nobler.

Some people, whose lives are full of hope, but who do not see how or why they do so. Evil is to him that thinketh evil, but no man can ever be made bad by the associations which he chooses. He who finds only happy hearts and all the perfume of splendor of mid-summer, covered all over by the yellow moonlight of semi-tropical Texas?

"Those present were, Misses Ad Stone, Madge McCammon, Helen Smith of Austin; Annie Talley, Anne Elbert, Rose Townsend, Rose Archer of Terrell; Alice Jester, Helen Kerr, Janie Read, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Jester, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Jester, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Stone, Mrs. E. C. Prince, Claude Jester, C. L. Jester, A. Elliott, J. E. Butler, W. J. Burgess, P. J. Blackmon, Dr. Willist Foster, Lewis Carpenter, Ben Fortson, S. W. Arthur Polk and Dr. Clay Johnson."

CRASH

Rescue teams had been rushed as soon as a TWA search plane spotted the wreckage in the Nile Delta area. TWA said the bodies are being removed by plane to Cairo.

Five of the crew of seven aboard the plane, bound from Bombay, India, to Rome, were Americans. The other two were French. Eighteen of the 48 passengers were Americans, and the remainder represented 11 other nationalities. Two passengers were Indian Nationals en route to U. S. Air Force Base in Paris. Another passenger was the Egyptian movie star Lilliane Cohen, whose screen name is Catherine. She was living in New York. Turner of the Middle East.

The Americans listed aboard included Aubrey William Schofield, 52, a native of San Antonio, Texas, who has been living in New York. He has been manager of the Eastern Hemisphere Foreign Production Division of the Gulf Oil Company. Recently he has been filling in as manager of the Kuwait Oil Company.

Another American was listed as William C. Gist, son of Justice Erwin S. Gist of Lake City, Ia. The senior Gist is assistant secretary of services and transportation officer at the U. S. embassy in Cairo.

Three other Americans on the passenger list were identified as from the U. S. Air Force Base at Dhahran, Saudi Arabia. The names were listed as Melvin Hanson, Derek Owen William and Harry Richard Woods. No addresses were given.

Investigators were dispatched to the scene at once, by the Airline and Civil Aviation Department. The Civil Aeronautics Bureau in Washington also dispatched two investigators to the scene.

The loss of 56 lives would make the crash one of the most disastrous in world commercial aviation history. The heaviest death toll in American commercial aviation was enacted last June 24, when 58 persons died in a crash of a Douglas DC-7B plane crash in Lake Michigan. The heaviest toll in commercial airline history was March 12 this year, when 80 persons died in the crash of a British transport near Cardiff, Wales.

Ferry said, "The car piled up in a ditch. Another car was crushed over a fence into a field. Thirteen cars remained on the track. Teague is 35 miles South of Corsicana."

Tigers Will Open Pickett Camp; Bulldogs Start

By TALMADGE CANANT
Sun Sports Staff.

Football takes over the sports spotlight in Navarro county Friday, Sept. 1, when grid teams of practically all classifications issue tags and begin practice for the 1950 season.

Those teams that are expected to begin on Friday are Navarro Junior College, Corsicana High School, Corsicana State Home and the various other Class B schools in and around Navarro county. Corsicana Junior High school waits until Monday to begin.

12 Lettermen.
Navarro Junior College will welcome 12 lettermen and an unknown number of new prospects to the fold Friday morning at 8:30. Two guards, two tackles, a center and seven backs comprise the letter winners from 1949 for the Scarlet and White. Beyond that, Coaches Red Clark and Guyle Aldridge can tell little of what their material will be on opening day.

They have hopes of some good prospects from scattered points over the state and the usual good representation from Corsicana and Navarro county schools.

Some members of the 1949 Tiger blizzard team are expected to enroll Friday morning. The Bulldogs sport new game uniforms this season.

Navarro opens its non-conference schedule on Sept. 14 in Kilgore against the Kilgore Junior College Rangers.

Issue Tiger Tags.
Friday morning Coaches Boyd Payne, Garland Matthews and Otis Pederson issue Blue Tiger tags at Corsicana High school, and start getting their defending champs of District 12-AA ready for a week's stay at the Pickett school on the old Waco highway.

This campsite will serve for the annual fall grid camp, a hallmark of CHS football for the past several years.

Five lettermen, including Duane Nutt, Jimmy Wood, Rayburn Matthews, Bobby Malcolm and Jimmy Crans, make up the core of the returning Tiger squad. A host of mostly unproved sophomores and juniors make up the balance that Corsicana will have to defend its title in this tough district.

The Tigers return from Pickett Sept. 9, and six days later go into action against North Side High of Fort Worth in the first non-conference game of the 1950 season.

For more than a week, prospective Tigers have been having mild conditioning sessions at the high school campus, but there has been no mention or sight of a football or grid equipment.

New Lad Mentors.
The State Home Laddies, defending champs in this Class B district, get their uniforms Friday like most teams. Unlike most others, however, they have a brace of new coaches. Pete Goodman, head coach, and R. M. Watson, assistant coach, arrived on Tuesday and have no time to make an evaluation of what they will have in the way of returning lettermen. Consequently any attempt to estimate the Laddies' chances in this year's race would have to wait. However, the conditioning program at the State Home is a year-around program, and Laddies are dangerous any year.

Night Workouts.
Coach Goodman indicated that the practice of holding workouts at night would be continued in view of the fact that the Laddies must do various jobs on the campus in the afternoon. Night workouts are more comfortable this early in the season, anyway.

Goodman and Watson have not decided on what system of attack they will employ this season. The Laddies have done well with the straight T-formation during the past two seasons. There is a possibility that they might shift to a more versatile single-wing attack. If the material is suitable, Goodman speculated Wednesday.

Goodman also indicated that he would welcome the chance to hold the periodic practice scrimmages with the Corsicana High school gridlers as has been the practice in recent years.

Oct. 6 is the date for the first conference games in the Class B district. However, almost all the teams have scheduled non-conference games prior to that date, although there has been no announcement from them to that effect.

Bynum is a new member in the local B circuit. Mildred has shifted from Class A football to the six-man game because of a further decrease in enrollment. The complete list of teams in Class B in this sector is comprised of Kerens, State Home, Blooming Grove, Frost, Hubbard, Dawson, Italy and Bynum.

Corsicana Junior High school issues uniforms on Monday, Sept. 4 and starts practice on the same day.

Coaches Bill Hay and Jess Cummings have released for following Panther schedule for the season:

Oct. 12—West Waco Juniors, here.

Oct. 19—Highland Park (Dallas) Juniors, here.

Oct. 26—Panthers at West Station.

Nov. 3—Palestine Juniors, here.

Nov. 9—North Waco Juniors, at Waco.

Nov. 16—South Waco Juniors, at Waco.

TEC Executive Says 2,000 Bales Ginned In County

W. B. Reedy, director of the local Texas Employment Commission, Thursday said he believes 2,000 bales of Navarro county expected 40,000-bale crop has been ginned. This estimate includes cotton ginned through Wednesday.

Reedy said he believed a mild peak in the cotton picking industry would be reached by Monday. He said several hundred pickers already are working in the fields of this county.

The local TEC office directed 246 pickers to cotton farmers during the week ending Wednesday, Reedy said.

Prevailing picking prices at the time, Reedy said, is $2 per hundred and 25 to 50 cents for hauling and weighing.

Reedy made his estimation on 40,000-bale crop based on one-third bale per acre as a county average.

The TEC office is daily receiving calls for cotton pickers, Reedy said.

"At present the supply is sufficient to meet the demand," he added.

PMA Announces Aid Schedules

Several important announcements to the farmers were made Thursday by the local Production and Marketing Administration. They involve financial assistance to farmers for the official listing of "fair prices" for various seeds.

The government's cash aid to farmers on hairy vetch purchases will be $12 per 100 pounds, and the "fair price" which dealers will be allowed to charge for the seed has been set at $21 per 100 pounds. Last year it was $22.00.

Purchase orders probably will be issued, beginning on or about Sept. 10, PMA Secretary Bob Clague announced.

"We have no funds at present and haven't been given the go-ahead signal," said Clague.

Another important Navarro county crop—hemp—will sell in 1951 at an official price of $14 per 100 pounds, Clague said, with government assistance to the farmer set at $9 per 100 pounds.

Many farmers have been selling their hemp seed from a low of 3-4 cents a pound to 7c a pound, Clague said, although the government will loan the farmer 10c a pound ($10 per 100 pounds). Therefore, the farmer is suffering a big loss. In order that the farmer can put his hemp seed in the loan program, the seed must not have a trace of dodder or Johnson grass seed.

The $9 per 100 pounds aid rate for hemp seed will be put in effect about the last of February, Clague said.

Austrian winter peas and Dixie Wonder peas both will have a fair price (which is the price of $8 per 100 pounds, and farmers' assistance from PMA will be $5.50 on each.

Aid on common rye grass has been set at $7 per 100 pounds, with a $12.50 fair price.

For Singletary peas the assistance rate will be $6, with a $10 hundred weight fair price.

All of the prices quoted are for No. 1, top-grade seed, with the legume assistance in September.

Ladies Auxiliary Met At Navarro

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Navarro Baptist church met in its regular fourth Monday business session at the church with Mrs. Jessie Forbes, president, in charge.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. J. W. Harrison led the devotion while Mrs. H. B. Fouty conducted a Bible game.

Mrs. Pete Goodin taught the lesson while Mrs. J. M. Harvard will teach the lesson Monday. Mrs. Katie Moore dismissed the meeting with prayer.

County's August Labor Picture Shows Definite Signs Of Future Unbalance

Navarro county's labor picture for August showed definite signs of becoming more static and unbalanced than at any time since the end of World War II, according to W. E. Reedy, director of the local office of the Texas Employment Commission.

"Matching men and jobs, long a goal of the TEC, became the art of trying to place a square peg in a round hole as the job market leaped to a level not usually noticed at this time of the year," said Reedy.

Contributing most to this unusual situation, said the director, is the tremendous amount of building and construction activity going on at the present time, together with the seasonal industries heading into their annual peak.

"Not to be overlooked," he added, "is the start of the cotton harvest, which will provide temporary jobs for several thousand men, women and children during the next few weeks."

Over a half-million dollars will be paid in wages during the cotton harvest to those who follow this annual occupation, and these dollars will find their way into every kind of business and profession connected in this county.

"Added to this will be the additional thousands paid to workers in industries related to agriculture, such as cotton gins and cottonseed processing, trucking and other transportation activity necessary to handle the movement of the South's greatest crop."

Reedy said the forecast for the next 60 days indicates a much tighter labor market. In fact, applicants of certain qualities and skills will almost vanish from the picture. With schools and colleges opening in September, the trek to the cotton fields, the withdrawal of many workers by the military, plus an undetermined number of out-migrants who will seek employment in defense industries in other areas, the job picture cannot help but become more and more static.

Reedy said wholesale and retail trades maintained a high level of employment during the summer months. Service industries, including automotive, kept pace with other activities, he said.

The director said new job seekers at that special session called by Grand Patriarch J. Dean Cumble of Dallas.

Chartered buses will bring most of the visiting delegations to the more distant points of Texas.

These annual pilgrimages at the two homes maintained and sponsored by the Order rank second in attendance and interest in the ranks of the IOOF, after the Grand Lodge and Rebekah assembly annual sessions.

Among improvements to be inspected this year will be the new nursery building at San Antonio Lodge No. 11 here and the renovated boys' building.

Pvt. James D. Ward, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Ward, 823 West Eleventh avenue, Corsicana, has reported to Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, for the basic airman indoctrination course for entrance into the Air Force technical training and for assignment in specialized work.

J. B. Shook, 704 North 231-2 street, Corsicana, member of the Air Force Reserve, was called to active duty this week and processed at Brooks Air Force Base, San Antonio, for assignment to a regular Air Force unit. A veteran of World War II with three battle stars among his decorations, Shook became active in reserve training after his discharge in 1945.

Shook is an ex-student of Corsicana High School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Shook, 812 South Beaton street, and is married to the former Miss Mildred Low.

First Lt. Leonard M. Winter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Winter of 516 North 9th St., Corsicana, recently clinched victory for the Karlsruhe, Germany, swimming team in matches there.

Lt. Winter is depot adjutant and adjutant of the 80th Ordnance Battalion at the Karlsruhe Ordnance Dept. near Munich, Germany. He entered the army in 1940.

To My Supporters and Friends:

Please accept my thanks for the splendid vote given me in Saturday's election, which made me the Democratic nominee for Commissioner, Precinct 3.

To those who were so loyal to my candidacy, I will ever remember your kindness, and to those who did not support me, I want your co-operation and friendship, and I assure you I shall do my utmost to please you and will give full consideration to any suggestion or any wish you may make known to me. As in the past, I shall strive to be a good commissioner and will do my utmost at all times to work for the best interests of my precinct and county.

Again I thank you, and solicit your suggestions and co-operation, and assure you I will use every effort I am capable of using to make you an efficient commissioner.

Yours very truly,
Fred M. Copeland.

Farm Talk—

Insects And Weather Make Future Of Farmer Highly Unpredictable

By CLYDE JOHNSON
Daily Sun Staff

A farmer's future is about as predictable as Texas weather.

How much he'll produce, how much he'll make, and how good the crop will be is strictly a "wait and see" matter. That's because so many factors enter into agricultural operations, from planting to harvest.

In the case of cotton, here in Navarro county, a record per acre yield was predicted for this fall by farm leaders. We reported these predictions at the time—about four months ago.

Agriculturalists foresaw a 60,000 bale cotton crop off the county's 140,000 acres—a yield of some 240 pounds on the average per acre.

But there was a big "if" that apparently has blackened the rosy picture painted at planting time. Here's what one leading Blooming Grove cotton farmer says:

"I produced over 70 bales on one piece of land last year, and I'll be doing good to get eight bales this year."

Asked what the trouble was, he replied:

"Insects! They're nearly as bad as they were in 1918—when many farmers didn't even drag a sack."

Some of the county's bottom land which produced a bale to the acre in 1949 is expected to produce only a quarter of a bale this fall. Because of insects.

That was the "Big If" warning issued along with the 60,000 bale prediction.

Apparently many of the farmers who will produce less cotton this year failed to apply insecticides sufficiently and properly. And the weather has played a big part, hindering poisoning operations.

A farmer's consistent gambling with the future was well shown for 1950.

At one time the prediction was that up to 5,000,000 pounds of seed would be harvested.

The best estimates available show that a mere half million pounds were harvested.

Although the weather was mostly to blame—it was far too dry back in April for good vetch growth—many farmers may not try the crop so extensively next year. They may blame the college boys for a false buildup.

Anyway, the average farmer probably doesn't think as much of vetch now as he did last winter.

Several hundred cotton marketing cards have been issued to Navarro county farmers who have satisfactorily taken care of their excessive acreages. FMA Secretary Bob Claque says:

About 70 per cent of the farmers have become eligible for the indispensable cards, so far.

Claque says. He promised that PMA would issue the cards to all eligible farmers as rapidly as possible.

Farmers are advised to destroy cotton stalks after harvesting—while the ground is dry and the sun is hot—so that pink bollworm infestation can be curbed.

Farmers all over Texas should have their plows in readiness and destroy cotton stalks row by row as they complete harvesting," says State Agriculture Commissioner J. E. McDonald.

Net Earnings Of Farmers Expected To Be Lowered

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The Agriculture Department expects farmers to take in almost as much cash this year as in 1949. But it predicts that their net earnings will be substantially lower.

The department's forecast estimated a net farm income of $13,000,000,000 which would be $1,000,000,000 less than in 1949. Farmers' production expenses are expected to be $1,500,000,000 more than in 1949.

Gross farm income, however, will amount to $13,500,000,000. This is estimated at $13,500,000,000 for 1950 which would be $500,000,000 more than in 1949.

Gross farm income, however, will amount to $13,500,000,000. This is estimated at $13,500,000,000 for 1950 which would be $500,000,000 more than in 1949.

In 1950, the department said, this would be only 2 per cent less than in 1949. This includes government payments, rental value of dwellings, value of home consumption and cash receipts.

Cash receipts from marketings for 1950 were estimated at $27,500,000,000, also about 2 per cent less than last year, and the fourth largest total in U. S. history. This estimate is $2,500,000,000 above the estimate for the same item which the department made in April. The reason for the unexpected increase, the department explained, was the Korean war, bringing greater demand and higher prices.

Cash receipts from marketings in August were 15 per cent above the total for July.

Dallas Grocer Short-Charged

DALLAS, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Deputy sheriffs had a hard time keeping pace with this story. West Dallas Sheriff Taylor said a customer ordered a package of cigarettes and gave a $10 bill in payment.

While the store owner counted out the change, the customer discovered he had a half dollar. He then offered in payment. He took back his $10 and also part of the change for the $10 which Taylor had given him.

Then the customer traded his $10 bill, the change Taylor gave him back from the $10 on his original purchase of the cigarettes and part of the change from his half dollar for a $20 bill.

As Taylor told the story to deputies, he calculated he was out 10.

Social Security Tax Collecting Plans Announced

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—

The internal revenue bureau has announced preliminary plans for collecting taxes under the new

Social Security act signed by President Truman this week.

The chief point in the sparsely detailed announcement was that report forms rather than stamps or coupons will be used for collecting Social Security taxes on house servants and farm workers. This means that payment of the tax must accompany the reporting form.

Millions Covered.

On Jan. 1 the new act will put about 10,000,000 additional persons under coverage of Social Security, lifting total coverage to about 45,000,000 workers.

The principal groups added by the new act and the collection methods announced by Revenue

Commissioner eGeorge J. Schoeneman are:

1. Household workers: A simple form is being prepared for housewives and other employers of regular domestic workers

(maids, cooks, etc.) to file every three months.

The first return will be due

April 30, 1951. Schoeneman said further details will be provided before Jan. 1. He said families having business employees will be allowed to add their household workers to their regular returns for the business workers.

Use Old Forms.

2. Farm workers: Since only regularly employed farm workers are covered by the new act,

the reporting forms (Form 941) used by businessmen will apply to farm workers subject to the new act, Schoeneman said. The first return on farm workers also will be due April 30, 1951.

3. Self-employed persons: A special Social Security tax on self-employed persons will be collected annually through the regular income tax returns, Schoe-neman said. The first payment by these individuals will be due

March 15, 1952.

Native of Commerce, Bird resided in Corsicana for many years before moving to Fort Stockton. Surviving are a sister, Mrs. James D. Gue, 5206 Miller, Dallas; a brother, Mark E. Bird, Los Angeles, and several nieces and nephews.

Funeralbearers were A. W. Ware, Ing. Oscar Bird, J. W. McCammon, A. J. Williams, Wilber Harris and W. P. McCammon.

Voting Precinct Changes Are Made By Commissioners

Six voting precincts were abolished by the Commissioners' Court Tuesday in a move to streamline Navajo county's antiquated balloting system.

Unless other boxes are eliminated or consolidated, the county would still have 40 voting precincts. Under state law, the court's action will not become effective until 1951.

County Judge Joe D. Huffstutler said.

The precincts eliminated are: Phillips Chapel, which will be split—part going to Mildred and part to Corsicana Ward 1.

Eldorado and Rodney, which were consolidated. The voting place was set at Union High school house, and a portion of the El Dorado precinct will vote in Dawson.

Raleigh, which was acquired by Blooming Grove and Dresden.

Birdston, which was divided between Winkler and Cade.

Westbrook—to go to Bazette. Montfort—to go to Roane.

Exact boundary lines are being prepared by Judge Huffstutler and will be published at a later date. The law requires advertising of the proposed precinct changes, the judge said.

Panther Gridders To Hold First Session Monday

The 1950 Corsicana junior high school football squad will hold its first meeting of the season Monday morning, Sept. 4 at 8 o'clock at the junior high school here, Coach Bill Hay has announced.

Following that session, the Panthers will work out daily in the late afternoon for a full week until the beginning of classes. Jesse Cummins will again assist Coach Hay with the juniors.

The Panthers lost all but three lettersmen by graduation during the past year, but the coaches expect a big squad to report for the practice sessions. The 1949 season saw them win four contests and lose three.

At the opening of the 1949 season one of the biggest squads in the history of the local junior high school reported for practice. Coach Hay and Cummins hope for a similar turnout next week.

An improved schedule has been matched for the upcoming grid season. All games on it are with bona fide junior teams, in contrast with former years when the Panthers were forced to book games with some Class B teams and other teams using older boys.

The complete 1950 schedule will be released within the next few days, Coach Hay said Wednesday.

Officials Meet To Make Plans For Jersey Show

Two officials of the Texas Jersey Cattle Club met with members of the Fair committee and the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday to work out plans for the Jersey show which will be held in conjunction with the Corsicana Livestock and Agricultural Show, Sept. 28-30.

In Corsicana were Frank Tooke, Tyler, president of the Jersey club, and Evans Reese, Waco, a director of the association and a member of the sales and show committee.

R. W. Knight, OC manager, said further details on the Jersey show would be announced soon.

The Jersey exhibitors transferred their show from Sulphur Springs to Corsicana because of an anthrax quarantine in the eastern part of the state.

Not Pills But Pipe; Change In Name Announced

Corsicana's newest manufacturing plant, due to open about Sept. 15, will be known as Carlon Products Inc., and not Carter Products Inc., a company official said.

The change in the firm name became necessary after the manufacturer of liver pills raised an objection to the use of the name Carlon and stated its company had the name registered to do business in Texas.

The parent firm of the Carlon plant, Carter Products Inc., is located at Cleveland, O. The new industry, which will employ between 12 and 20 persons at the start, will manufacture plastic pipe. The company is located in a hangar at the municipal airport.

H. J. Fringeli, who will manage the plant, his wife and daughter, all of Cleveland, arrived in Corsicana Tuesday.

Packages Banned To Six Countries

Mrs. John L. Whitehurst, chairman of the General Federation's council of international relations clubs, has notified members of the organization that there is a ban on shipping packages to six foreign countries.

She urged the women to stop their efforts at sending relief abroad until the ban is lifted, saying that the countries to which shipment of goods cannot be made are Korea, France, Germany, Great Britain, The Netherlands and Corsica.

At the same time, Mrs. Whitehurst made known an intensive effort by the General Federation of Women's Clubs to make foreign women visitors to this country welcome at the ports of entry.

She announced the appointment of women in nine of the American ports of entry as official hostesses for international visitors explaining that the hostesses would meet international leaders, entertaining them when possible and advising them about the program of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mmes. Foust, Hughes Attend Houston Rites

A week-end trip to Houston Saturday morning ended tragically for Mmes. John Hughes and M. E. Foust whose sister, Mrs. W. L. Collins had unexpectedly passed away shortly before their arrival.

Mrs. Collins had been ill for two years but had seemingly felt as well as usual when she left Friday evening during a telephone conversation with Mrs. Foust.

Funeral services for Mrs. Collins were held in Houston Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at St. Collins is survived by her husband; one daughter, Mrs. Margaret Taylor and two grandchildren; five sisters, Mrs. Alvina Pitts and Mrs. C. E. Allison, both of Corsicana; A. Curry of Groesbeck, and Mmes. Foust and Hughes of Corsicana; two brothers, Jack Goolsby of Houston and Alva Goolsby of Groesbeck.

Mrs. Hughes returned to Corsicana after the funeral but Mrs. Foust is remaining in Houston for several days.

It Happened 25 Years Ago Today
(From the Files of The Corsicana Daily Sun)

R. K. Blackshear of Corsicana learned yesterday that a saw and planing mill he recently purchased at Critton, La., near Shreveport, had been destroyed by fire. Both were valued at $9,000 and there was no insurance.
